

parents at Salt Lake City. No, is not a Mormon—at least not so you could notice it. Finished his education in Salt Lake and went to work in Pa's furniture store. The smell of the varnish made him sick, however, and he left the home nest for Dallas, Tex., becoming connected with a grocery establishment. Tried to palm off a yard of tripe on an old lady who had come in to purchase a bath towel, however, and hit out over the truckless wilderness for Chicago. Liked the town, but met with no response. Back to Pa and Ma in Salt Lake again, and struck town just in time to join the Utah volunteer Cavalry. Was unfortunate in not getting farther than San Francisco and the Yosemite valley. After some further time spent in mercantile pursuits came to Manila to accept a position with the Union Truck company, arriving in October, 1902. Ability and energy soon won him the position of manager, and under his regime the company has easily led its competitors. The concern changing hands, Mr. Freed leaves for the United States today to go into business with his brothers in Salt Lake City. Returns via Singapore, India, Europe and New York.

A member of Salt Lake lodge, B. P. O. Elks, and the Elks club of Manila. A clever and enterprising young man, who will be sadly missed by the many friends to whom he has endeared himself by his sunny disposition and fidelity while in Manila. The Philipines can ill afford to lose Americans of his calibre.

The French naval officers in port are being rushed by society as they were never rushed before. It will be hard for them to break away from this port. Miss Genevieve King is one of the most popular of society girls abroad the Protet. The Frenchmen like her because she speaks their language so fluently. She has studied several languages and speaks them all well, and I believe that she loves books more than society. The commander of the Protet is the most interesting of all the French officers because he is a widower and therefore an eligible. The girls have made a great fuss over him, and he likes being lionized.

The above paragraph is from Town Talk, and will be of interest to a large number of Miss King's friends in this city, where she has visited Eleanor Dooly a number of times.

That was a nice stunt of Dave Burley's taking a carload of friends to Boise Sunday night, and returning them in time for the ball at Ogden. It is understood that this little party was the first of a series and that suits a lot of people.

Ned Greenway has been in town for a week. His only fault lies in the fact that he doesn't stay here longer. He is such a slave to duty, however, that he has to hurry back to Frisco—they can't do without him long down there.

The composite function given at Ogden on Tuesday night in honor of the visiting irrigators was a howling success. With a ball on one floor, a smoker on another, and a banquet mingled with a fizz duel on the third, there was joy enough for every one until the early morn. It was the most brilliant social event ever given in the history of Ogden, and all the credit is due the citizens of that city—for I understand that the Senator from Montana, who was supposed to be the host, put up not a penny.

The Rob Walkers, the Ned Ferrys, the George Topliff and Memmie Read returned from their Idaho invasion yesterday loaded down with relics of the chase.

Mrs. W. W. Rivers entertained at a delightful luncheon on Monday in honor of Mrs. E. S. Murray.

Sunflowers were used most effectively in the decorations, and the place cards were painted with yellow blossoms. The luncheon was a very beautiful affair.

The wedding of Miss Edith Ferry and Lieut. Merrill will take place October 21st.

Mrs. James A. Miner entertained at an informal luncheon on Wednesday.

Mrs. A. H. S. Bird gave a very keen luncheon at the Country club on Wednesday for eighteen friends.

A great surprise to their many friends in this city was the wedding, on Thursday evening, of Miss Louise C. Reese and Julius H. Lovendale, President of the Tribune Job Printing Co. The couple left for California immediately, followed by many congratulations.

October 24th is the date set for the wedding of Miss Nellie Walker and Dr. M. R. Stewart.

The Country club guest day was not the great success it usually is, but those who went out had a very enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Child received informally Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Guild of West Virginia.

Colonel Bubb entertained Tuesday evening in honor of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury R. B. Armstrong of Washington, D. C., and Collector of the Port Stranahan and Hamilton Fish of New York.

The marriage of Miss Luella Ferrin and Mr. John Sharp on Thursday was one of the interesting events of the week. Mr. and Mrs. Sharp will live in New York.

Mrs. Le Grande Young and the Misses Young entertained at luncheon yesterday for Mrs. Harold Russell.

Miss Mamie Sharp entertained informally Monday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Richards gave a dinner Wednesday evening.

The Edward M. Allisons are the latest people to receive a visit from the stork. A young lady.
